2018 Fall Learning Series Announced

Greencastle, IN –The 2018 Fall Learning Series workshops are filled with new speakers bringing innovative takes on today's most pressing nonprofit issues. Geared toward community leaders who staff or volunteer with nonprofit organizations, churches, and units of government, and wish to build their knowledge and skills in areas of leadership, finances, marketing and more, this series will offer extended networking and peer learning opportunities.

“Many people do not realize how much our communities depend upon volunteer leaders,” said Elaine Peck, Executive Director of the Putnam County Community Foundation. “Successful communities have strong nonprofit leaders who have the tools, information, and support they need to accomplish their missions.”

The Putnam-Montgomery Learning Series is brought to you by The Putnam County Community Foundation and the Montgomery Community Foundation, with special thanks to our sponsor Hoosier Heartland State Bank, in conjunction with Indiana United Ways.

The August, September, October, and November workshops will be held in Greencastle at the Inn at DePauw from 11am to 2pm. Individual workshops cost $15/session and include lunch.

The Schedule for the 2018 Fall Nonprofit Learning Series is below:

- August 7th – Nonprofit Finance Demystified: Bill Stanczykiewicz, The Fundraising School
- September 11th – Data in the Digital Age: Lucy Downton, United Way of Central Indiana
- October 9th – Building a Strategic Board: Lanton Lee, Kiwanis International
- November 13th – No More Bored Boards: Lori Danielson, GoTime Coaching
